

Valley Baptist Health System to Add Unique Patient Safety Technology

Isabel Healthcare To Offer Clinical Decision Support Systems Providing a Safety Net For Physicians

HOUSTON (December 9, 2004) – Isabel Healthcare, Inc. announced a new client that will soon reap the benefits of the Isabel system as an enhanced resource to all affiliated providers. Valley Baptist Health System in Harlingen, Texas is now a user of the Isabel Clinical Decision Support and Diagnosis Reminder system and joins a fast growing list of leading global hospitals.

Isabel equips physicians and healthcare professionals with a sophisticated decision support system that has been developed over the last 5 years. In clinical trials Isabel has been shown to significantly enhance decision-making, which should result in a decrease in treatment delays, and more appropriate transfer of patients to specialist centers. The widespread use of Isabel will improve care, lower costs and improve healthcare quality and safety.

Valley Baptist's partnership with Isabel signifies their commitment to enhancing patient safety and preventing misdiagnosis. Valley Baptist Medical Center is the leader in South Texas when it comes to excellence in health care, medical advancements, and high-tech equipment. In quality ratings, Valley Baptist has received the top 5-star rating in three different service lines -- putting Valley Baptist among only two percent of the hospitals in the United States that have achieved that honor.

"Isabel is a robust database of information and linkages to help clinicians formulate comprehensive lists of differential diagnoses," said Dr. Stan Fisch, pediatrician and chairman of the Medical Informatics Committee of Valley Baptist Health System. "Its interface is simple and intuitive, and for teaching students and residents, there is nothing comparable. Outstanding in every way!"
